Dear Friend,

We've just received your truly kind donation of £96.50 and I wanted to write to you personally to say a very sincere thank you. It means a lot to me that you wanted to support the work of The Salvation Army. Please accept this letter as your official receipt.

Your donation will enable us to be there for vulnerable people who come to us. It will help us transform lives by bringing comfort and support to people who have no one else to turn to, and give hope to people who have reached the brink of despair. Often, The Salvation Army is the 'safety net' for people in need, giving them the encouragement and support they need to build a better future. But we can only be there for everyone who needs us with help from people like you, so thank you.

May God bless you.

With best wishes,

Lieut-Colonel Melvin Fincham

On behalf of all the people we help and the people who help

PS I have always believed that saying thank you is important, which is why I have written. We have noted your request that in future you'd prefer not to hear from The Salvation Army again by post. I fully understand and we will respect your wish. Thank you again for your support. It means a lot to us.
